

PageUp Data Breach – website statement:

PageUp, the recruitment technology provider used by David Jones Pty Ltd and many other organisations across Australia and New Zealand, was recently affected by a data security incident. As a result, we suspended our recruitment pages and our connection to PageUp as a precautionary measure.

PageUp has now confirmed that the system is once again secure and safe to use and as a result we have reinstated our connections with PageUp and have recommenced accepting online applications.

We continue to work closely with PageUp to understand the impact on David Jones data.

You can find information on the data security incident on PageUp's website here:
